About us

Join Australia's HVAC testing and commissioning training and accreditation organisation.

Be part of a community of like-minded professionals equipping and empowering our industry and members for the future.

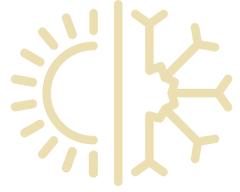

A network of like-minded people providing the ongoing education, mentoring, support and accreditation you need.

Moving forward, we've got your back

As our industry evolves to address a host of challenges, not least climate change, precision testing and commissioning services are more vital than ever.

It's an exciting but challenging time. Projects are becoming more complex, timeframes are getting tighter and building codes, standards and regulations are constantly changing. That's why we're here: to support you.

Whether you're an established HVAC service provider or an affiliated business, an experienced supervisor or technician or just starting out, think of TACA as your professional home.

Wherever you are on the project delivery spectrum, we're on the ground nationally, providing support and metric-based training designed for our local market, codes and regulations.

With this local focus, we're able to pivot quickly in response to changes in governance and actively advise regulatory bodies when they're considering future changes within our industry.

“There’s a wealth of technical expertise and practical experience here in Australia. Through TACA, we’re sharing and developing this capability, with resources designed specifically for our local industry.”

Chris Wright
President, TACA

Our culture, capabilities and accreditations

Tap into our growing range of training, mentoring and accreditation support, whether you're seeking certification for the first time or CPD credits for recertification.

Streamlining certification and recertification

From in-person and remote training to innovative online and virtual reality courses, we work closely with individuals, affiliated businesses, industry leaders, partner organisations and RTOs across Australia to develop new ways to support our members.

Along with our training, mentoring, support and accreditations for HVAC testing, adjusting and balancing, we're also rapidly expanding our portfolio of specialised education and qualifications.

Technical. Commercial. Personal. We combine all our international experience with our local industry expertise to improve standards and outcomes across the board.

Sometimes, it's all about enhancing the technical aspects of our members' work. Sometimes, it's about connecting members or providing support to help individuals manage their work, life and study. Sometimes, it's about helping employers recruit and nurture new talent.

But it's always with our individual, business and affiliate members in mind and your best interests at heart.

Q. "What if I already have certification with another organisation? Can I get a credit towards accreditation with TACA?"

A. Yes. We welcome anyone who has existing skills, experience and certification to apply for TACA accreditation. We have a straightforward review procedure designed to make your application process as easy as possible.
